

Some products will yellow, they are not UV resistant. Make sure you have confirmation that the product will not yellow.

Some products will not tolerate hot water

Poor preparation will cause the product to fail

Enameling, Re-enameling, Baked enamel and Synthetic Porcelain are generic marketing terms to describe a paint based resurface coating applied from a spray gun.

Car and marine paint products should not be used on bathrooms or Kitchens. The manufacturer does not recommend these products to be used for this purpose

Don't accept a product with a slow cure time 24-72 hours means the product is not as strong and will leave fumes in the air for a longer period.

Poor quality products give a poor quality finish, don't risk it.